HOW WASHBURN WAS CALLED TO PUBLIC LIFE.

It is a fact that the first effort to draw the late ex-Governor C. C. Washburn into public life was made by several prominent citizens of Rock county. The convention which first nominated him for Congress, was held at Mineral Point, on the 13th day of September, 1854. Mr. Washburn was then a practicing attorney in Mineral Point, though he did not then occupy a high position at the bar. He was an excellent real estate lawyer, but in other branches he took little interest. In the year that the convention was held there were already two members of the Washburne family in Congress—brothers of C. C. Washburn—E. B., of Illinois, and Israel, Jr., of Maine. They were then leaders in Congress, and this fact led some of the Republicans of Rock county to direct their attention to the other brother, who was pursuing his legal business at Mineral Point, and little dreaming of entering political life. On the 5th day of August, 1854, a letter was written from Janesville to Mr. Washburn, which, being given in full, will explain itself:

JANESVILLE, AUG. 5, 1854.

C. C. Washburn, Esq.:—
DEAR SIR:—From consideration of personal esteem and confidence, and guided by the significant suggestion that two of the congressional districts of the North have been so fortunate as to secure from your family fine men to represent them, our preferences point to yourself as the next representative in Congress from this district.

We wish to inquire of you: "Would a nomination for Congress from the Republican party accord with your feelings and wishes?" This question, you will, of course, understand to include the one, "Do you cordially endorse the principles and approve the objects set forth in the resolutions adopted by the mass meeting at Madison on the 13th ultimo?"

Awaiting your early answer, and with sentiments of regard, we remain, &c.

This letter was signed by J. A. Sleeper, a representative of the Republican State convention in 1854, now an attorney in Chicago; by L. P. Harvey, afterwards Governor; by J. Baker, then editor of the Janesville Free Press; by Charles Holt, then and for a long time thereafter connected with the Janesville Gazette, and now editor of the Kankakee, (Ill.) Gazette; and by the late William H. Tallman, of this city.

Mr. Washburn answered the above letter on the 9th of August, and expressed surprise that his name was mentioned for Congress. He could not then promise to accept a nomination for Congress on account of his business engagements, but if the tender came with unanimity on the part of the convention he would then consider the propriety of accepting. He also soundly endorsed the principles of the Republican party.

In the meantime the persons who first addressed him on the subject of running for Congress were, in the political parlance of the present day, "working up a boom" for Mr. Washburn, and when the convention met he received 27 votes against 20 scattering. The nomination was made unanimous. Mr. Washburn accepted, and he was elected. This is the part Rock county took in bringing into political life. The service it rendered the State and the country in the part it took in placing him in Congress, adds honor to those who grasped the situation and saw the importance of having men of the courage, integrity, executive ability of C. C. Washburn to represent the young Republican party in the halls of Congress.

Governor Rusk has issued a proclamation recommending to the people of the State the observance of the 30th day of May as a day set apart for the decoration of the soldiers' graves.

Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll will deliver the oration on Decoration Day in New York, and President Arthur and General Grant have promised to hear him.

As was predicted in the Gazette on Monday, the court in banc has rendered a decision sustaining the sentence of Judge Cox which hangs Guiteau. The only hope which Guiteau has left is in the Supreme Court, and that will not afford him any comfort. Mr. Reed, his attorney, is said to have faith that he will yet save the scoundrel's neck from the gallows.

"The Republican-Sentinel" is the name of the paper issued in Milwaukee since the purchase of the Sentinel by the stockholders of the Republican. It looks very much as the old Sentinel used to look, and in fact is printed mostly from the same type the Sentinel used for some time. The Republican office has been removed to the Sentinel office and from there the consolidated paper will be issued hereafter. Thus, after much bitter fighting and litigation and the law's delay, the matter has been settled, and now there is but one morning paper in Milwaukee printed in the English language. It has been said that the Republican-Sentinel as it stands now, has cost the owners about $200,000—a pretty expensive paper—but in time it may prove not to have been a poor investment. There is a fertile field in Milwaukee for a sound and vigorous Republican paper, and it is believed that the consolidated paper will be such a one as the city needs and one which the Republican party of the State expects shall be published in the State metropolis. We hope in common with all Republican workers that the Republican-Sentinel will be successful both financially and in editorial influence, and that it will succeed in healing the old divisions in the Republican party in Milwaukee.

REED AND GUTEAU.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—After the adverse decision in the Guiteau case to-day, Counsel Reed visited Guiteau, who, says Reed, says to have perfect faith that he is coming out all right in the end. Reed will visit the jail with a notary to-morrow morning and obtain Guiteau's signature to an affidavit, which will be signed in the next step in the case.

Reed has now three courses to pursue in the last effort to save Guiteau. It is understood that he will most probably attempt to get a writ of habeas corpus from one of the judges of the Supreme Court in chambers, returnable to the full court. If this were granted, the execution would have to be postponed, because the court does not convene until October. He may also apply to the District Court for a commission in lunacy, and, as a last resort, he will ask the President to commute the sentence on the ground of grave doubts of the sanity of the assassin. Reed says he will stay by him to the end.

COURTING DEATH.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 22.—Henry Hilgenmeyer, 17 years old, and prominent in German society, yesterday eloped with Ella Winning, aged 19, hiring a horse and buggy here, and abandoning it at Whitestown, Johnson county. Strangely enough, Hilgenmeyer left a note declaring his intention to commit suicide, and arranging for the disposition of his private effects. In the last few weeks he has made frequent threats of this kind and once attempted to shoot himself, but the revolver snapped. The relatives of the young people suspected nothing serious between them.

The winning girl returned to the city to-night, and told a tragic story. She says she and Hilgenmeyer went to Greenwood, ten miles out, yesterday, and spent the day at a picnic. In the evening they determined to die together, and accordingly purchased 10 cents' worth of laudanum, which they took, and lay down. The drug did not have the wished-for effect, and after several hours of unconsciousness they came into the town again, and after walking about for several hours, decided to go to again try to shuffle off. This time they purchased 25 cents' worth of poison, and went again into the country and hid behind a wood pile. After exchanging mutual vows they took the stuff and lay down, and was startled by seeing her companion cold and dead in his presence. She did not stop to give alarm, but started for this city, twelve miles distant, reaching here in the evening greatly exhausted. She says she and Hilgenmeyer were tired of life, and not wishing to be separated, decided to die together. She is evidently eccentric, but denies the fact, and says she has always lead a straight life. Hilgenmeyer, although young, has been in "one or two love scrapes before."

No Humbugging the American People.

You can't humbug the American people, when they find a remedy that suits them; they use it and recommend it to their friends. Just exactly the case with Syrup Brouss which has become a household word all over the United States. Price 50 cents, trial bottles, 10 cents.

Sold by A. J. Roberts and F. Sherer & Co.

NOT RE-APPOINTED.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Ex-Senator Hiram S. Town, of Ripon, has been in Washington for several days seeking re-appoint as postmaster for the city of Ripon. As his district is represented in the House by Gen. Bragg, a democrat, it remains for Senator Sawyer to make the recommendation. Senator Sawyer is not in favor of Maj. Town's re-appointment but prefers C. H. Upham, whose name he will probably submit to the President.

ARTHUR THREATENED.

NEW YORK, May 22.—When Postmaster Pearson reached this office to-day he found among the large batch of documents awaiting him a special communication from the assistant superintendent, inclosing a postal-card on which Pre-ident Arthur was notified that if he did not recall Minister Lowell from England and ask for the unconditional surrender of American citizens held in British dungeons without trial, he would be assassinated. The postmaster says he will make a searching investigation of the matter.

JENNIE CRAMER.

NEW HAVEN, May 22.—Mr. Doolittle has announced his intention of closing the prosecution in the Malley trial to-morrow. He does not claim to have any surprise in store. The case against the accused, therefore, rests almost solely on the evidence adduced. It has taken sixteen days to place this evidence before the jury. Four days were spent in obtaining a jury. The evidence indicates a conspiracy on the part of the Malley cousins and Miss Douglass to inveigle Jennie Cramer to their ruin; but not scintilla direct or circumstantial, linking them to the alleged murder has been presented. The feeling of disappointment is universal. There is a bare possibility that the District Attorney has a legal thunder-bolt in reserve. The friends of Malleys laugh at the presentation of the case by prosecution. They seem to be utterly unmindful of the stain cast upon the boys by the ruin of the hapless girl. They may not be guilty of her murder, but they are regarded by nearly everybody as morally responsible for her death. There are indications, however, that failing in substantiating the charge of murder, the authorities will prosecute the accused for perjury or a more heinous crime.

Fred. Amos, Tyler street, Rochester writes: "Your Spring Blossoms is wonderful; I never used anything that acted so well on the bowels, and at the same time was so free from the drastic properties usually sold for the purpose." Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

BENNETT'S ESTATE.

NEW YORK, May 22.—At the partition sale to-day of the Bennett estate, of the late James Gordon Bennett, Sr., the bidding was spirited, but in all cases the property was knocked down to James Gordon Bennett. The amount realized was $1,351,000. The Bennett Building on Nassau street realized $650,000.

SEASONABLE SUBJECTS.

The Radical and Popular Changes the B. & O. Has Made in its Schedule: a list of East Bound Trains.

From the Chicago Tribune, 21st.

The change of time which goes into effect to-day—Sunday—on the B. & O. is quite a radical one. The morning train which heretofore has been more of an accommodation than an express train now becomes a flyer—one of the fastest in fact in the country. Leaving Chicago at 8:10 in the morning so rapidly is dispatched that it reaches Washington at noon, and seven days in advance of any other day train out of Chicago. This new order of things will be of an immense advantage to those who desire to spend a half day in Washington en route to New York. By taking this Washington flyer one may have an entire afternoon and evening at the National Capitol and then, at 10:30, the B. & O. night train for New York arrive in the metropolis bright and early the next morning. Or should the desire be to keep right on he may have the pleasure of passing through Washington in full sight of the capitol and other public buildings and reach New York the same evening. To this train will be attached the magnificent new B. & O. sleepers and parlor cars. The afternoon train under the new schedule leaves ten minutes earlier, and the noted solid train, there being no change of cars any class whatever from Chicago to New York via Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. This train is also a daily when it comes to making time as it arrives in Washington the succeeding evening an entire night ahead of the late afternoon trains on other lines. To it are attached not only special elevated sleeping cars, but perfect and appointed dining cars as well, in which are served meals famed as being beyond all comparison the finest known on wheels in the north-west. The night train under the new schedule will at once gain a popularity which will prove most substantially the wisdom of putting it on. Heretofore the great inconvenience has been on all the eastern lines that trains left at an hour which prevented one from getting any benefit or pleasure pastures, out of the evening. Now the B. & O. will have a train leaving at ten minutes of eleven at night in good time to afford all who so choose to spend the evening with friends or at places of amusement. In common with the other trains named this late train will not let grass grow under her as she arrives at Washington early the second morning, Baltimore an hour later, Philadelphia before noon and New York in fine season for dinner. Of course this train has sleeping car attached and every convenience and luxury which money can command.

This new schedule is without question the best in every way the B. & O. has ever had out of Chicago and in many respects cannot be equaled by any other trunk line. There is no gainsaying the fact that when it comes to Washington as an objective point there is no line that can compare with the B. & O., and it can ever beat the other into the National Capital all the way from a half day to an entire night. As for Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York travel it certainly has no reason to take a back seat, as the saying goes, as it possesses advantages in reaching the cities named which are unsurpassed. From a picturesque standpoint its attractions are equalled by no line in existence, and being the only route between the East and the West via Washington, it is by the B. & O. only that a visit may be made at the National Capital en route to New York without an extra expense as to fare and increased hours of travel.

CONCERNING SHOPPING.

Some Interesting and Valuable Suggestions for the Ladies.

(Mary Wagner-Fisher, in Rural Ladies Yorker.)

To go to "town" to shop or "trade" is for many country women an event of real importance and often of very great fatigue, especially where the wants are many and there is only a little money to cover them. To be obliged to select and to decide upon fabrics or furniture within a given time is a class, are not trained to decide quickly in affairs of business.

In order to shop expeditiously, you should begin a week or two beforehand and make a list of everything you need to buy, or hope to be able to buy. After this list is complete, revise it by putting groceries in a column by themselves, and do the same with "notions," which include needles, pins, thread, buttons, trimmings, etc., and classify fabrics in the same way. In making this revised list place at the top of the columns the most important articles—those that must be had at all events. Give yourself plenty of room, so that opposite each article you can note down the quantity required, with space also left for what you pay for it. With this prepared list in hand, you know very nearly what you want; nothing is forgotten and you are saved from confusion. In making your purchases first buy the material things, and then use the means left for those next in order.

I have shopped in many cities and villages, and with all my shopping I have found that I get the best satisfaction and the most for my money when I go to a first-class place where there is no deviation from a fixed price, and where I have reason to believe that the shop or store is conducted in an honest way. I have never found it profitable to go from store to store hoping to find an article at a less price. A good article is never "cheap," and it is reasonable to suppose that a large dealer can supply goods at a lower price than a small dealer can. But it is not wise to buy an article that does not suit you, and in order to be suited it is, of course, sometimes necessary to go from shop to shop. There is one sort of clerk by whom those who are not very strong-minded are in danger of being imposed upon—the clerk that tries to bully you into buying what you do not want. At the outset it is best to recognize the fact that the business of the clerk is to show you goods, but that you are by no means under obligations to buy. If you wish to look at goods with a view to future purchase, say so, and the clerk, if he is obliging, will show them to you cheerfully without urging you to buy at the time. No good woman will unnecessarily consume the time of clerks, as she values her own time too much to waste it.

In buying many articles, the buyer is no judge of their quality, and under such circumstances it is best to trust to the experience and honesty of the person of whom you buy. Especially is this true of silks and the finer class of fabrics. There is nothing gained, as a rule, in pretending to be wiser than you are, or assuming to yourself capabilities that you do not possess. In ninety-nine cases out of 100 the average woman might as well buy black silk for her frock with her eyes shut and her hands tied as to look at it and finger it for half a day.

In buying ready-made clothing, look well at the sewing. If there are ruffles, examine the hemming. If you are buying suits for children, ask for pieces of the same to patch elbows and knees. Before having the articles worn, see that the buttons are well sewed on, and fasten the ends of all seams so that there will be no ripping.

In buying bonnets or hats, never invest in cheap white straw. Especially for children do not choose such, nor white straw trimmed with cheap light-colored stuff and flimsy artificial flowers. Select, instead, a stout brown or black straw of good quality and simply trimmed. Such a hat will look well until worn out, and not be spoiled by rain or damp weather. If one child outgrows it it will do for the next one. Train your children to prefer plain, substantial things to cheap and showy ones.

For boys from 3½ years of age and upward, it is fashionable as well as sensible to make their drawers of the same material as that used for their trousers. If ready-made suits of cloth are bought, you can find flannel of a similar color for the drawers.

Stockings are a very expensive item in a child's wardrobe, and any suggestion as to how the knees may be saved will, I am sure, be acceptable to mothers. "Creepers" are sold at the shops for this purpose, but they can be home-made. To a square or oblong piece of thick cloth, large enough to cover the knee well, two elastic are attached at each end to the opposite corners of the cloth—the elastic passing around the ## Easy Arithmetic Problems.

If it costs a colored family eighty cents per week to keep four dogs and a cat, how much less will it cost if a policeman breaks the goat's neck and two of the dogs get in the way of a street car?

Six times seven girls are how many girls, and what on earth are they good for?

A lady bought a hat for twelve dollars, a set of frizzes for four dollars, a pair of shoes for six dollars, and a comb for three dollars. How much would all have cost her if the man hadn't told her that he had quit the trust system?

A woman pays seventy-five cents for a shirt for her husband and nine dollars for a pair of silk hose for herself. What was the cost of both?

A man who desires to move a cook-stove weighing two hundred pounds calls in a neighbor to lift one hundred and eighty pounds of the infernal old thing, while he gets away with the remainder. What is the remainder?

A tramp has two hundred feet to go to reach a gate, while the farmer's dog has three hundred feet to go to bite the tramp. The tramp travels at the rate of twelve miles an hour, and the dog at the rate of twenty. How near the gate will the poor discouraged sufferer be when the canine catches on?

A man who gulps down a five-cent glass of beer and tells the saloon-keeper to charge it is obliged to pay a doctor two dollars and fifty cents for cementing a crack in his skull, while the saloonist is fined three dollars for doing such a cracking good business. How much money was involved altogether, and how much would have been saved if the beat had waited until a candidate came along and asked him to take something?

A housewife sold a coat to a peddler for a vase worth nine cents, a pair of boots for a china dog worth six cents and a vest for a glass bottle worth four cents; how much did she receive for all, and how much over six dollars clear profit did the peddler make?

A grocer takes twenty-eight pounds of butter worth thirty-two cents per pound, and mixes it with fifty-six pounds of butter worth fourteen cents per pound. He then hangs out a sign of "gilt-edged butter," and sells the whole for twenty-nine cents per pound. How much does he make?

NEW TABLE OF DRY MEASURE. Two schooners make one pint. Two pints make three quarts. One quart (of strawberries) makes a dish.

One peck makes six quarts. One bushel (of peddler's apples) is three pecks.—Detroit Free Press.

A Strange Accident.

John Flaharity, an engineer on a Denver & Rio Grande engine, was running a "pusher" in the yards at Leadville. He was ordered to go down the road and meet the incoming passenger at Elder's. Just as he started out of the yards, the strap connected with the lever broke, and he lost all control of the engine. The engine was a new one and in good condition, and he says he never can explain just why or how it happened. Running at a tremendous speed down grade, he expected every moment to be dashed to instant death.

"It was an awful moment," said Flaharity, "when I found that the engine would not respond to the touch of the lever, and that she was beyond my control. The cylinder heads blew out, the steam blinded me, and everything seemed to conspire to hurl us to destruction."

"How heavy was the grade?" "One hundred and eighty-five feet to the mile. Down the steep incline the train dashed. I tugged at the lever and brake, but it was as if I had been tugging at the solid parts of the engine itself. Then suddenly I remembered that I was to meet the passenger-train at Elder's. My fireman jumped off early in the race, and I was left alone, thinking I had left him dead on the track. We were making more than a mile a minute. Little pieces of sand and dirt flew against my face and stung like coals of fire. I yelled and screamed, for I knew that our only hope was to flag that train and get her on the side-track. I saw the operator, Woodward, running for the train as he saw me coming, enveloped in a cloud of smoke, and steam."

"With one last effort I opened wide the throttle, hoping that the engine would throw herself from the track on the curve and save the train from destruction. Then I jumped, and unconsciousness overcame me. When I recovered I saw the engine lying on her side within forty feet of the passenger-train, and people were crowding around me bathing my head, and hoping I was not killed."

Flaharity escaped miraculously with only a few slight bruises. The accident was one of the strangest on record, and in it not a single person was seriously hurt.—Denver Tribune.

Growth of the Telephone Business.

The success of the telephone business in the short period of its existence is in remarkable contrast with the early history of telegraphing. The record of the telegraph companies was one of struggles and disasters till the Western Union took up the work of organization and consolidation. The telephone has been a source of profit almost from the first, and a number of men have already been made immensely rich by it. The report of the American Bell Telephone Company for the year ending February 28, 1882, just compiled, shows an increase in the number of instruments rented to subordinate companies from 132,692 to 189,374 (over 4,700 a month); exchanges in operation, 408, to 592; subscribers, 47,880 to 70,525; miles of wire, 28,316 to 49,168. An item in the account illustrative of the rapid progress in telephonic appliances is 54,229 instruments destroyed, or to be destroyed, because defective. The gross earnings for the year are reported at $1,001,924, of which $885,312 came from the rental of instruments, and the net earnings were $562,061.—Bradstreet's.

Repairing the Implements.

A tool or implement should never be put away after being used, without being put into good condition and made ready for the next season's work. But that is not always done, and when it is not, the repairs should be attended to at the first part of the season. In many sections where the spring work is already under full headway, it is now too late to get the full advantage of fixing up things, but the principle of "better late than never" holds good. It is both irritating and unprofitable to use a plow, cultivator, harrow or any other implement that is giving out every few days, and, perhaps, does not work well any of the time. Under such circumstances there is no better time than now to stop and have the implement repaired. Make a business of it. Look carefully over everything, and if there is a bolt, or a screw, or a nut or handle that needs replacing, have it done, and the trouble and loss of time that it may save will vastly repay the effort.—Western Rural.

HOME, FARM AND GARDEN.

An amateur botanist in Wisconsin is said to have prepared 939 specimens of flowering plants, all of which have been identified.

No class of real property is appreciating in value so rapidly as forest lands or well wooded areas. They will also be rich legacies to future generations.

The barberry is one of the prettiest of garden plants. It is very ornamental, especially when the fruit is ripe, and the latter makes an excellent sour sauce.—N. Y. Examiner.

Salsify, or vegetable oyster, is cultivated the same as carrots or parsnips, and is considered by many as a luxury. It is used for soup, boiled, or can be sliced and fried in batter, when it makes a fair substitute for fried oysters.—Denver Tribune.

Mouse holes in the walls and closets should be first filled with lime and afterward plastered over with plaster of Paris mixed with water. It is a good plan to keep a paper of the latter in every house, as it is useful in filling cracks, and in many other ways in household economy.

Weights and Measures: It may be interesting to some housekeepers to know that one quart of wheat flour, or soft butter, or of broken loaf sugar, makes a pound; a quart of corn meal, or of best brown sugar, one pound and two ounces; white sugar or powdered sugar, one pound and one ounce; ten eggs, one pound; sixteen large table-spoonfuls make one liquid half pint. A common sized tumbler holds half a gill. Sixty drops make one tablespoonful.

A Missouri paper notes that "the sheep interest and the sheep-killing dog interest are as antagonistic as fire and water. The two cannot exist together. One or the other must go. The sheep is always a valuable animal in every section adapted to its nature and habits. The sheep-killing dog is not valuable in a community where sheep are kept. When the domesticated dog forsakes his civilized habits and returns to those of his ancestor, the wolf, he ought to be treated as a wolf. So far as he is a midnight marauder upon the shepherd's flocks, he ought to be trapped, shot or poisoned, in any way that is most convenient to the sheep owner."

Root Beer: For each gallon of water to be used take hops, huckleberry, yellow dock, sassafras, dandelion and spike-nard roots each one-half ounce; bruise and boil twenty minutes; strain; while hot add eight or ten drops oil of spruce and sassafras mixed. When cool enough not to scald your hand, add two or three tablespoonfuls yeast, half pint of molasses or half pound white sugar. Keep these preparations for as many gallons as you wish to make. It is best to get the dry roots, or dig and dry; you may add other roots which you know to be possessed of the qualities desired. After all is mixed let it stand in a jar with a cloth thrown over it work about two hours; then bottle and set in a cool place.—German Town Telegraph.

Glanders.

Glanders, as everyone knows, is a highly contagious disorder of solipeds, and is now very prevalent in the United Kingdom. In London it is especially so, and causes great losses to owners of horses. It is readily communicable between the horse and ass species, less so between these and other species, but man is frequently infected. It is a most repulsive malady, and is incurable. Very much of our knowledge respecting it is entirely due to experiments on living animals. Not infrequently it manifests itself in a chronic form, and with such vague symptoms (though it is, nevertheless, as contagious as if these were) that it is not until the most skillful veterinary surgeon cannot tell for certain whether it is the disease or only an ordinary catarrh. If it be glanders, then to allow the animal to live is to endanger the life of every horse and man who come in contact with it; while to destroy it, if the malady is not contagious, would be cruel and unnecessary. When time is an object, or facilities for isolation are not present, then test inoculation must be resorted to. For the purpose a worthless horse, or better still, an ass, is inoculated, and a few days suffice to decide whether glanders is present. If the result of the inoculation is affirmative, the experimental animal manifests symptoms, generally at the site of inoculation, which cause it little if any discomfort, and it is at once destroyed, as is also the suspected horse. By this precautionary procedure many horses, possibly those of an entire regiment of army corps, may be saved from peril, and human lives preserved from a loathsome and fatal disease. In elucidating the processes of disease, in framing preventive measures, in investigating the spread of contagious disorders, as well as in perfecting modes of surgical operation, experiments on living creatures are absolutely necessary, for their own interest no less than for those of mankind. Veterinary medicine and surgery are based on humanity no less than on utility, and their aim is to remove or alleviate pain among the animals placed under the dominion of man. By experiments in pathology, disease and mortality have been vastly diminished, and continued experiments in the same direction will cause further diminution. If mankind benefits, so do animals. A discovery which will avert disease in one will probably do so in the others; every advance of knowledge is a boon to all. To prohibit resort to experimental pathology would be at once to doom creatures which we are bound to protect to the endurance through all time of terrible suffering from disease, and that might otherwise be vanquished. Abhorrent cruelty in every shape, and desirous of abolishing it by every possible means, I must nevertheless deprecate the attempt to place a barrier across the path pursued in pathological investigations on animals.—Nineteenth Century.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

A joint meeting of the committees having in charge the various arrangements for carrying out the observance of Decoration Day in this city, was held last evening at the rooms of the W. H. Sargent Post, at which Dr. Palmer presided, and Mr. T. S. Nolan acted as secretary.

The strawberry and ice cream festival at Cannon's hall to-morrow evening. Attend it and enjoy yourselves.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

The general committee desired the use of the lecture room of Court Street church in which to prepare the bouquets and other decorations, and Mr. M. M. Phelps was requested to use his influence to secure it for that purpose.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

Mrs. A. G. Hayden, of Milwaukee, sister of Mrs. Richard Valentine, of this city, will sing at the Chicago Festival with the Milwaukee Arion Club.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

Delavan A. C. received, yesterday, from Illinois, a handsome pair of chestnut colts, pronounced as fine a team as there is in the city. They are beauties.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

The old dilapidated building known in former times as the First ward school house, on Hayne street, is being transformed into a commodious and pleasant dwelling.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

Mr. E. W. Vanderlyn, of the First ward, of this city, has been drawn as one of the jurors in the United States District Court, at Madison, which meets on the 6th of June.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

Miss Mary Eldredge, who has been living for the past two years in Ripon, is in the city, and is stopping with the family of Mr. C. R. Whitall. She will remain in Janesville for the summer.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

Passengers on this morning's train from Davis Junction, report quite a snow storm at that place last night, and boys were having a good time snowballing when the train left that place. Tough story of the 23d of May.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

The common council last night laid out work enough to keep the street commissioner and his force of laborers busy for some time. The proposed work includes a number of sidewalks, most of which are in the first ward.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

The Circuit Court resumed the Fond du Lac case this morning, the expert bookkeeper being put upon the witness stand to give his evidence relative to the condition of the bank on certain days. His testimony will occupy the entire day and perhaps longer.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

The Annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. for the election of officers for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as shall come before the meeting, will be held in the Young Men's room over the Old Post office to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

Mrs. S. Vincent, of Milton, is in the city, visiting her brother, Mr. R. S. Burdick. Mrs. Vincent returned yesterday from Florida where she has been spending the winter. She says that this morning was the coldest she has experienced since she left Rock county, last December.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

Dr. A. H. Hollister goes to Janesville to-morrow morning to attend the first regular meeting of the State Board of Pharmacy. It is held for the purpose of examining candidates and issuing certificates of registration, and will probably continue throughout the week.—State Journal.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

Mr. James Brown met with a very severe accident at an early hour this morning. While unloading a barrel of mortar from a wagon, the barrel fell to the ground, striking upon his left foot, tearing loose the tendons. The wound was properly attended to by Dr. Will H. Palmer.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

After waiting for many years, the residents of Ringgold street, in the Third ward, will be pleased to learn that that street is to be improved this spring. Alderman Valentine did it last evening by introducing an order instructing the Street Commissioner to proceed with the necessary work.

Arrangements for Decoration Day.

We regret to state that Mr. Burr Robbins is now suffering from an attack of erysipelas in the right side of his head where he received the injuries two years ago last winter. We are glad, however, to announce that his condition is much better than it was yesterday. Everybody will sincerely hope that his present illness will not prove severe nor of long duration.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

A Long and Tireless Session Held Last Evening.

Mayor Croft presided over a full board of aldermen last evening, at which meeting considerable business was disposed of. The city clerk occupied the floor one hour and four minutes in reading the journal of the previous meetings and clearing his table of the accumulation of accounts, etc., etc. The minutes were approved, and accounts and other papers appropriately referred. The council then proceeded and transacted the following business: John Kelly was confirmed as chief engineer, and James Foster as first assistant engineer, and their official bonds approved; A. Carlson was confirmed as a member of Rescue Hook and Ladder Co., vice Wm. Ehrlicher resigned; the bond of C. H. Lee, as constable of the Third ward, was approved; the reports of the board of education for April, and that of the municipal court for same month were approved; a statement from Marshal Hogan, showing the amount of fees received by him from April first was filed. At this point a large number of specifications for side-walks and street improvements, the recommendations of the street commissioner, were read, some of which were adopted, while the majority were placed on file. Marshal Hogan presented a report of the action in the municipal court relating to the Henderson gambling suit, and Mr. Henderson was cited to appear at the next meeting of the council and show cause why his license should not be revoked; a complaint against the stock yards of the Northwestern railway company was referred to the railroad committee; the council accepted an invitation to participate in the exercises of Decoration Day; a report was read from Chief Engineer Kelly, showing the condition of the department and recommending some repairs and purchases; licenses were granted to Thomas Kelly and Fred. R. Jones to sell liquors; permission was given to Jacob Heller to move his saloon to River street; the rules were suspended and the report of the finance committee was made and concurred in; James Church was elected street commissioner on the third ballot, receiving 6 votes, James Croft 2 and Daniel Dowling 2; Ed. Connell was declared elected oil inspector on the first formal ballot, the vote standing, Connell 5, Fenton 1, Roberts 4; the salary of the city marshal was fixed at $80 per month; the chief engineer was instructed to repair the steam heater of the East side steam, at a cost not to exceed $60; the street commissioner was instructed to replank the stalls and platform at the East side engine house, the cost not to exceed $40. The rules were suspended and the following ordinance was passed:

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

An Ordinance to prevent ball playing in the streets and public grounds of the City of Janesville. The council of the City of Janesville do ordain as follows: SECTION 1. No person or persons shall hereafter play any game of ball, or other ball game, on any street or public ground in the city of Janesville.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

SECTION 2. Any person that shall violate the provision of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five dollars, nor less than two dollars.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in power on and after its passage and publication.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

Dr. J. B. Whiting was unanimously elected as health officer of the city; the matter of renting or purchasing the pest house property was referred to the judiciary committee, with instructions to report at the next meeting; the grade of South Bluff street was filed, and adopted. The council at 11:30 o'clock adjourned.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

Milton. This community was shocked on Friday by the announcement of the death of D. B. Wood, who but a day or two before was about town and apparently enjoying his usual good health. Deceased had an attack of bilious colic Tuesday night, but his symptoms were better on Thursday, and his recovery was expected. On Friday morning his physician, Dr. Allen, informed us that his patient would not recover, and at 1 o'clock he died. Mr. Wood was one of the early settlers in this locality, and for some years past has resided in this village, in his fine residence on "Wood's Hill." He leaves a large property to his heirs, but had no children. The funeral services took place on Sunday morning at the house, and were largely attended by the neighbors and friends of the deceased. Rev. F. W. Hullinger officiated, and the remains were interred in the village cemetery.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

Decorations day will be observed here in an appropriate manner. The exercises will be held in the Park at 2 o'clock p. m. and the College Cadets, and Cornet Band will assist in the ceremonies. The programme will include Recitations by Miss Dunn and others. Oration, Music, &c., and the public are cordially invited to be present.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

Prof. C. M. Gates, of Berlin, made his Milton friends a brief visit last Wednesday. He is looking well and we were all glad to meet him. Mr. Gates is business manager of the Rock Falls Creamery Package Company, a concern in which he owns a controlling interest, and has our Station Agent Tompkins left on Tuesday night for the West and expects to be absent a week or more. His thirty years service for the company certainly entitles him to a vacation and as his traveling credentials are good on all divisions of the St. Paul road he can see all the country he cares to visit.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

A. B. Lee and family left this village on Wednesday night for Ishpeming, Michigan, where they intend to reside in the future. They have the best wishes of their friends here for future health and prosperity.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

Clarke has Crane's stationery—the finest made. Call and see it.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

The Scott family gave a concert at the Seventh Day Baptist church on Monday evening. The receipts were not large enough to suit them, but about as much as the entertainment was worth.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

C. Burdick has purchased an interest in the Janesville morocco factory, and will hereafter devote his time and attention to that business.

DOINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

Mrs. Jacob Bowers died on the 15th inst. Deceased had been in poor health for some time and was an aged lady. Mrs. Bowers came to this State at an early day with her husband, who died some years ago. The funeral took place on Wednesday at the house, Rev.
